ASW Leads West

To start the year, the ASW officers planned the Hello Day Assembly on September 16 which included a slide presentation introducing E-Board, Dance Club, basketball and football teams, with the theme "West . . . Making a Good Thing Better." The traditional Homecoming was filled with events such as the Powder Puff Football game and fence decorating with colored napkins, spray paint and aluminum foil around the football field. For their Halloween special, the ASW officers planned the spinechilling movie "Asylum" in the gym, with many students bringing their bean bag chairs, blankets, pillows, and candy. Under the direction of the ASW officers, clubs worked together during the week of April 24-28 in constructing a frontier town in the gym and planning a dance for Western Roundup, which ended the year's activities.

Mike Roberts ASW President

President Directs West's Success

"West, Making a Good Thing Better" was the theme for the 1977-78 year and Mike Roberts, who with a staff of four women, carried out this motto in assemblies, Homecoming, and fence decorating. Mike served in leadership positions in most school activities. He sang bass, starting with junior choir serving as president and then going on to A Cappella. He also loved to act, playing characters like Roy, a financial clerk who is never satisfied in the Odd Couple. , to Petruchio, a muscle-bound he-man in Taming of the Shrew. He was also active in advanced debate, Drama Club, and on the sophomore football team. During the year Mike spent many hours on student problems and planning for school activities to promote more student involvement and awareness and to fulfill the E-Board theme of: "West, Making A Good Thing Better."

E-Board

Assemblies, dances, pep rallies and service projects were all on the agenda for this year's Executive-Board. Meeting with Mr. Blackhurst first period, they coordinated activities to bring to life the theme, "West, making a good thing better." Planned and carried out by E-Board to bring spirit to West were the annual E-Board dance at the ZCMI center March 18 and the Western Round-Up April 28 in the gym. Activities scheduled for Homecoming and Spirit weeks included banana stuffs; cider guzzling; 50's, farmers, and grub days; VW stuffs and the powderpuff football game with the juniors beating the seniors for the first time in five years. This E-Board team of eleven men and women started a new tradition for Homecoming, an early morning breakfast for alumni and students.

Seniors Lead the Way

Striving to prove it can be done, the Senior Class Officers compiled the names of the 2,199-member student body. For the first time officers prepared the books for distribution during registration in August. The cover design displayed an old-fashioned telephone with the title "West Directory, '78."

During Homecoming week, the Senior Class officers decorated a section of the fence surrounding the football field with a rainbow background. A cap and scroll with the theme "West... Making a Better Thing A Lot Better" added the final touches.

Juniors Eye Senior Stardom

"... That's the Junior victory cry!"

Juniors, represented by Brian Lloyd, Jeff Thomson and Leslie Newman, sang and shouted this phrase at games and assemblies. They sponsored various lunchtime activities during Homecoming Week, October 10-14, featuring a dunking machine. Victims, including Studentbody President Mike Roberts, had to sit calmly over a bath of cold water while participants attempted to dip them.

Junior organizations sponsored various dances including the Junior Prom, February 11 at the Prudential Plaza and the Christmas Dance by the Pep Club on December 17 in the Capitol Rotunda.

In sports, the Junior Powder Puff football team dealt a crushing blow to the Seniors in a game ending with the score 20-12 held on October 14 for Homecoming festivities.

Junior Choir, under the direction of Mr. James Maher, sang songs at many of Utah's malls for the Christmas season as well as in the Tabernacle for the Christmas Songfest to turn on the lights for holiday festivities..

Freshmen Leaders Spread Spirit

"Hard work and fair play" was the motto of West's third Freshman class president Jack Burbidge, who worked with the E-Board to exert ideas and raise spirit. Julie Finley as vice president and Emily Archuleta as secretary shared Jack's responsibilities. They started the year's activities in the traditional fence decorating for Homecoming. The fence was red and white, featuring West and Granite football helmets. The class officers also participated in the annual E-Board Sub-for Santa program.

On November 16 and 17 all Freshmen took the Sobar Test that judged their reading level. Many read books like Where the Red Fern Grows, Romeo and Juliet, and The Good Earth. Besides English, geography and learning West High traditions occupied Freshmen minds this year.

Panther kittens had their first taste of high school social life with the year's opening stomp and cheered their first football game against Layton. The class of '81 pursued "hard work and fair play" at West.

When Dr. Fowler came to West High four years ago, he asked himself if he would enjoy West High as a student. To do this, he visited the three other schools in the Salt Lake District to see if West matched up to them. Then he took some pictures of these schools' facilities and compared them with our school. After this, a group of teachers and parents from the community went to the Board of Education to get a grant to remodel. From a grant of $300,000 the Board provided West with new ceiling tile for the halls, carpet wainscotting for the walls, and terrazo to replace the dark green linoleum hall floors. Dr. Fowler was also successful in obtaining $3 million to build a new gymnasium, which will be completed by October, 1978.

During the year Dr. Fowler attended a work shop in Vail, Colorado, where he and six West faculty members and representives from many other schools discussed areas of concern. They were: positive discipline to improve the student's self image, improvement of teachers' feelings about teaching and their teaching ability, and involvement of more students in school government. In doing these things Dr. Fowler aimed to, as Mike Roberts said, "Make a good thing better!"

Mr. Roger Tucker enjoys his work and new office. He's happy and smiling.

Mr. Robert Blackhurst accompanied Dr. Fowler to the Vail, Colorado, work shop this year where they discussed the possibilities of involving more students in school activities. To do this Mr. Blackhurst helped the student body presidency to plan a number of assemblies and stomps throughout the year, such as the Navy stage band, the Homecoming assembly and dance, and the Hello Day stomp, to involve more students.

Sitting behind the desk in his new office, Mr. Ralph O'Brien stated, "I want to be of help... in any way I can." As assistant principal, Mr. O'Brien worked with faculty and students in the organizatin of yearly curriculum and class schedules. He counseled and advised students to enroll them in classes of a beneficial nature. He also worked with seniors, helping them to advance towards graduation.

Skier, golfer, attendant of the soda pop machine in the faculty room, Mr. Roger Tucker was active this year. He was in charge of discipline and attendance for 9th and 10th graders. He also supervised all the lunches and frequently patrolled the halls sending students back to class. Mr. Tucker lent specialist ears to 9th grade problems. Asked about how he felt about West, he replied, "West is a great school and I enjoy working here."

To help students identify meaningful goals, the counselors encouraged all students to take advantage of vocational and academic classes in their high school years. A full-time secretary, paneled rooms and orange carpeting was the setting of the five counselors located in their new offices on the second floor. Over 5,000 program changes plagued the counselors year round. With the help of Teri Holleran and her two assistants, Kathy Green and Lori Hargraves, the UP Program began its second year with an expansion to four periods which included over 40 students. Sitting on large pillows and green carpeting was the atmosphere for the UP Program in Room 216. Their goals were to understand self awareness in themselves and interpersonal communications with others.

The secretaries enjoyed remodeled offices and new positions this year. In the personnel office Margaret Bain replaced Mrs. DeLaMare who switched to keeper of computer records. Two Dutch windows faced the hallway through which students could get office help. Mrs. Philbrick, the head secretary, kept the office happy with smiles and encouragement of hard work while Mrs. McDermaid assisted students in the CDC. In the bookstore, Mrs. Bisignano sold pencils, books, pom pons, football jerseys and whoknows-what-other neat stuff. Mrs. Sacco talked to the teachers over the P.A. with inquisitive questions of students' whereabouts. Mrs. Butler handled money matters in the ASW office with expertise and joviality. Mrs. Coates was very assistive in the office with requests for supplies. This team was one of the best at West.

$3 Million Gymnasium Emerges

Bright yellow or orange lockers, wall to wall carpeting in offices and refrigerated drinking fountains represented much of the remodeling done this year. Counselors, administrators, and secretaries enjoyed renovated and relocated offices. Dr. Fowler's office received enlargement, paneling and brown carpeting. All three assistant principals' new offices moved down the hall to be approached from the Personnel office. Orange and brown carpet wainscotting, outlined with orange or gold borders, brightened the main hall. New acoustic ceiling tile illuminated the halls, which were lined with new, brighter fluorescent lights. Solarian floors replaced the battle-scarred, dark green battleship linoleum. Suspended lights along with the freshly painted details in gold and light blue lightened the main engry. The renovation added new touches to the school and West's historic building.

Custodians worked throughout the day and into the evening to "make a good thing better" by keeping the halls and classrooms clean and in repair.

Thanks to the custodial staff, students come to clean lockers each morning.

Two members of the Salt Lake City Board of Education and Superintendent Thomas.

The Salt Lake City Board of Education approved the final plans for a new 2.8 million dollar gymnasium for West High School on Tuesday, September 20,1977. Dan S. Bushnell, Board president, said the old gym had become inadequate, particulary since federal regulation mandate greatly increased athletic and physical education activities for girls. Elden Talbot, architect from the firm in charge of the project, presented plans for the new gym which the Board approved unanimously. The new facility, to be used in addition to the present gym, will be located west of the LDS Seminary. It should be completed for use by the commencement of the school year of '78-'79.

Media Aids Students With Info

Leaving one's activity card at the front desk for admittance was the new policy the Library Learning Center personnel enforced for the first time this year. This innovation was effective in reducing losses in library materials and lessening the noise level.

Mr. Sheridan Prince combined with a ten-member crew, working first period every morning gathering information to air during the advisory period about news of the day.

A first year TV productions class, taught by Mr. Gary Walton built skills in working with cameras, special effects machines, and other audio-visuals.

Where can you find cities such as Toronto, Dern, Blood, Bamberger, Argonne, Midway and Trenton? Each June these cities, and others, can be located at either Utah State University in Logan or Southern Utah State College in Cedar City. The reason? These are just some of the cities of two mythical states known as Girls' and Boys' State. The American Legion selected junior students to represent West, June 4-11. Mike Roberts, Wayne Dial, Jody Hall, Dave Senior, Jonathan Bittner, Steve Carmen, Vicky Fechner, Lorri Kocinski and Sue Shingleton joined other Utah high school representatives to organize and run a new state. Two parties were developed and participants either campaigned themselves or supported the candidates of their choice. Mock elections with authentic polls added a touch of realism as Girl and Boy Staters voted for city, county and state officials, which included everything from governor to dog catcher. Campaigns, speeches, assemblies and skits helped each individual to gain a firmer knowledge of the United States government.

West's Sterling Scholars

Sponsors Desert News and KSL radio and television received the names and pictures of the twelve Sterling Scholars from West on February 13. March 10 found the Sterling Scholars from throughout the state submitting their 35-page portfolios which included letters of recommendation, personal merits and awards, and forms from department heads and Dr. Fowler.

Interviews on April 5 led to choosing ten semifinalists using a 100-point system. Fifty percent counted on grades and performances while the other 50% included citizenship and leadership. Chosen in each department, the two runner-ups received $100 and the winner $250.

These classes helped students to understand the fundamental make of our modern world, such as the evolution of the animals we have today, the age of the layers of earth, and their chemical equations and structure.

In biology, half of the battle is getting the microscope focused clearly; the other half is figuring out what it is.

Mark Wipple and Lisa Evans convey the importance of English by the attention they give to Miss Haltiner's English assignment.

A quiet library and an English assignment assure a good sleep.

The spectrum of English branched from classics to language, writing and modern drama. Some of the books covered were Homer's The Iliad and The Odyssey, Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice and A Midsummers Nights Dream, and more modern books like Black Boy, and The Heart of Darkness. The Junior Honors classes stressed improving their knowledge of proper punctuation by working their way through a work book called English the Easy Way, which taught them how to use the semicolon, where to use capital letters, and what is the difference between an adjective and an adverb. In short, English endeavored to give its students a well rounded background in English by providing literary and language experience.

Students Encounter Social Studies

Lectures, reading, studies and zzzzz. Social studies is a blast!

Tom Russell analyzes Brad Barnett's answering style during sociology.

The Social Studies program at West consisted of sociology, psychology, survey of law, and world and US history. The Sociology classes watched films like "The Glass House" and the NBC documentary film, "Crime in America." They also took their annual tour of the Utah State Prison. The history classes watched films like "Cleopatra" and "Ben Hur" along with their assignments and homework. At the end of the year the AP American History classes could take the AP exam and if they scored high enough the tests could count for credit at many major colleges. AP students also had a term paper due at the end of each term which was worth one-third of the total grade. The survey of law classes studied issues like capital punishment and the pros and cons of other controversies.

And it is another thrilling, scintillating day in social studies.

Angela Jeske and Mark Henderson listen intently to Mr. Taylor, who is currently expounding the importance of sociological stigmas.

With a total of 27 business classes in shorthand, typewriting, accounting, marketing, office practice, record keeping, office machines and data processing, and general business, students worked to strengthen their skills. The new class, Dollars and Sense, taught by Mrs. Selack and Mr. Taylor, challenged students in the knowledge of advertising from the consumer standpoint, investments, insurance, income tax, fundamentals of the metric system, and problems in the energy crisis and inflation.

Math ranged from survival math and pre-algebra to trigonometry and calculus. Teachers stressed the importance of math skills in everyday life.

"Dreams, realities, and hopes" of students was the theme for the 77-78 yearbook. It was one of the main topics going through the Panther staff's minds as they prepared the yearbook for the studentbody in June. The editors handled the 216 page edition of the Panther at an average of 32 pages per deadline which they sent to the Taylor Publishing Company in Covinia, California, for a total of six deadlines. The photographers took pictures of clubs, sports, and class officers, while the copywriters counted picas and lines to see how many spaces they had to fill describing some student reading a book or running around the gym. All this was done to bring you a yearbook that you will be proud of.

Sound Off columnist Cheryl Anderson expresses her views.

What was red and black and read all over the halls of West High every month? Need a hint? It couldn't be classified as a sunburned panther, although it did enjoy a good "sound-off" now and then — figured it out yet? If you have deciphered this ridiculous riddle, then you know the topic on which we speak is Red and Black, West's very own newspaper.

If you needed any information on extra-curricular activities or events, Red and Black was the paper to read. This year's paper was increased to six pages of articles, photographs and advertisements. At football, basketball and volleyball games, at debate tournaments, play rehearsals and State activities, photographers from Red and Black flashed cameras, while reporters, pads and pencils in hand, waited to jot down any interesting information. The staff of Red and Black, from typists to editors, worked to keep the student-body of West High informed and up-to-date.

West Winds Reviews Submissions

Deep silence pervaded room 307 as the creative writers of West High gathered to pool their thoughts and produce a literary magazine of profound inspiration. Under the leadership of Mrs. Barbara McLaughlin, the staff of West Winds worked to compile the variety of short stories, poetry, photographs, and artwork submitted by individual students, and the staff of West Winds. After publication, students, teachers, and parents bought the magazine.

Becky reads over literary submissions.

Cheerleaders

West's Cheerleaders were different this year: there were six instead of eight and they were all girls. But what they lacked in numbers they made up for in spirit and looks. They met during the summer, and from July 9 to 14, they also went to Utah State for a cheerleading clinic at which they gained new ideas and learned new cheers for pep assemblies. While at the clinic they showed West's superiority by winning two superior ribbons, two excellent ribbons and the spirit award for their achievements in contests and over-all enthusiasm. In August, the girls started meeting every morning from six to eight o'clock to get ready for the coming school year. Even after school started, they kept meeting early in the morning as well as in 7th period. They used the early mornings to work with Pep Club for pep assemblies and activities for Spirit Week.

The induction new members and the installation of officers, held on October 19, inspired FBLA members to undertand more about their Club, Speakers on the meaning of FBLA were Dee Ann Simmons who described Future; Linda Savage — Business; Terri Copenhaver — Leaders; and Julie Anderson — America.

The Hotel Utah was the setting for the Western Regional Conference including FBLA members from the Western states. The workshop, held on November 17-19, consisted of speakers, demonstrations on parliamentary procedure, and a formal banquet.

Drama Fiddles; Model UN Debates

Representing Rhodesia, Oman, and Togo, this year's Model United Nations learned many principles of international politics. The twenty-four member organization, sponsored by Mr. Con Skedros, learned parliamentary procedure and the drafting and subsequent debate of resolutions, preparing students to participate in a three-day mock session of the United Nations, held May 3-5 at the U of U.

The Drama Club went through a major change this year. The students started the year with Gary Walton, who directed the school play "You Can't Take It With You," December 1, 2, 3, 1977. Then just before mid year Mr. Walton and Jill German switched places and Miss German became the new drama coach, directing the school musical "A Fiddler on the Roof," February 16, 17, 18, 1978.

Did you ever walk through the west end of West High during fourth period? If you did you probably couldn't help overhearing the A Cappella Choir as they prepared their repertoire for performances. The eighty-five member A Cappella, under the direction of Mr. James Maher, performed before many audiences including state officials at their inauguration January 2 and many congregations for Sabbath programs. Officers of the A Cappella were David Senior, president, and Chery Anderson, secretary.

Selections sung by the choir varied and contained many different styles and types They sang sacred hymns such as, "Guide Us O Thou Great Jehovah", "Jesus Savior, Pilot Me", and "How Great the Wisdom and the Love", at Sunday perform-

These were just a few of the musical selections performed under the direction of Mr. James Maher. In tuxedos of black and long formals of wine, they sang before groups such as the Kiwanis Club, the Salt Lake Jay-Dees and the honored guests at a reception held for Governor Scott Matheson at the Capitol.

During the month of December alone, the Chorale gave sixty-five performances at varied locations around the Salt Lake area. They entertained shoppers at the Z.C.M.I., Cottonwood, Valley Fair and Fashion Place malls and sang in the corridors of the Primary Children's, Holy Cross, and University hospitals. The Chorale then settled down to learn a new spring repertoire.

Realizing the need to develop their voices for a cappella, the members of Junior Choir met during fifth period to "tone their quality" and receive instruction from Director James D. Maher. The Junior Choir performed several times during the Christmas season at the Z.C.M.I., Fashion Place and Valley Fair malls. They also performed with the a cappella and chorale in the annual West Christmas program, held in the auditorium. President Alan Back worked with his officers, Mr. Maher, and officers from Granite High's Junior Choir to plan a Christmas party which included a stomp.

In the spring, vocalists in the choir prepared to audition for next year's a cappella and those boasting true courage tried out for the 1978-1979 chorale.

The musicians participated in Region and State Festivals on March 1 and April 21. The 18-piece band performed at the Capitol Rotunda and the Northwest Multipurpose Center. The Stage Band hosted its annual assembly in May. Wailing saxophones, booming trombones, squealing trumpets, heavy bass, rocking drums and plunking piano comprised the jazz ensemble plus one mustachioed leader.

Fill Our Stage With Sound, Light

The Sound and Light Crew, under the direction of Mr. Fisher, spent many hours before and after school preparing technical effects for school activities. They worked on such events as pep assemblies and the Navy Stage Band; there were also the after-school performances: the school play, "You Can't Take It With You;" the musical, "A Fiddler on the Roof;" the annual dance concert; and the Halloween movie, "Asylum."

The Sound and Light crew acquired some equipment improvements. They received a new sounds system which included a turn table, a cassette tape deck and a reel-to-reel tape recorder; they also received a new light panel which they have been waiting for for two years, enabling them to make more and faster light changes. These improvements will help to enlarge their working capacity and efficiency, truly symbolizing "West making a good thing better."

The Panther Pack, coached by Gene Plaga, tackled 4A teams every Friday on the old green and white gridiron. The Varsity team had quite a few close games, including two overtimes of which one was the Homecoming game and the other was against Cottonwood. Sophomores Gain Tough Mileage

The Sophomore football team, under the direction of the new coach, Mr. Michael Reardon, had their taste of high school competition. The rookies usually played two days before the Varsity game. The Sophomores also donned the short hair style of the season. They learned many new playing techniques and aspired to participate in Varisty football action. The Sophomore team gained a log of mileage toward the goal of state champions in their senior year of 1980.

When the Panther Basketball team went to State, this was the reward for the long hours put in by the team. They started practices at the beginning of the 7th period, often working until 5 and 7 o'clock at night. At the beginning of the season, West tied with Highland for first place in Region 3 with a three win, one loss record. Then the team had three consecutive losses, one being an overtime-time loss by two points and the others fairly close. Towards the end of the season, prospects for State started looking up for the team when they took fifth place in Region by beating Skyline and Granite, and combined with Cottonwood's loss to East, these games cinched a State tournament playoff berth at the University of Utah with a Region record of six wins, six losses. The first game with Roy High saw West leading by as many as eight points. Then some very questionable calls gave Roy the momentum and West eventually lost 52-49 with the last three minutes being the deciding factor. Finally Clearfield doused West's tournament hopes with a second and final loss. However, the Region comeback that the team made was a fine example of the energy and vitality that the team had during the 78 season.

"If our pitching comes through we can conceivably make the state tournament. This is a rebuilding year: we have only four seniors and start six juniors" stated Coach Johnson. Coach Plaga commented some of the best hitters were Mark Maldanado who played catcher and right field, Jeff Titmus who was the outstanding pitcher, Kevin Adair who was a good pitcher and played first base, and Bill Anderson who played second base. Jeff Thomson and John Calacino played good defensively.

To build coordination, exercises in kicking, blocking, dribbling, and bouncing the ball with the head occupied the JV and Varsity soccer teams. The teams practiced at Riverside Park every day after school. With the supervision of Mr. Bill Kershaw, the Soccer Team battled their way through Regional meets starting in February on Tuesday and Fridays in the surrounding city parks and worked toward the State Tournament in May.

Jumping over hurdles, throwing the javelin, vaulting, broad-jumping, and running the track occupied thirty Track Team members for all three divisions: Varsity, JV, and sophomores. The team started out early with practices seventh period until 4:00 p.m. Their first match was the BYU indoor track meet on March 18. Five dual meets followed to prepare runners for the season's races. These started on April 15 and consisted of five invitationals with schools in region III. The season ended with the State meets, May 19 and 20.

The Hockey Team had a schedule of practices and games every week. The puck-pushers, coached by Mr. Dean Carr, totaled a season's record of five-wins, ten-losses, and one tie. The team skated, swatted the puck, and strove for victory at the Salt Palace, Hygeia, and Bountiful.

Cross Country Strides For Success

Four-score and seven laps ago, our forefathers founded an organization of "breath-taking" significance. This organization, the Cross Country Team, worked to break long distance records in the three-mile run and other marathons.

To build stamina and endurance, Coach George Zember ran the team up and down City Creek Canyon and around the West High track. The Cross Country Team drilled in the fine arts of pacing and sprinting, preparing them for competition against other teams in the Cross Country Region and State meets. Invitational meets at Sugarhouse Park and BYU gave runners a chance to strive for better records and trophies.

The Twelve-member Golf Team, practiced putting and driving seventh period and after school during the golf season, September through October at the Rose Park Golf Course. The Regional meet on October 17 ended the season for the Golf Team, bringing them 5th place with two wins and four losses. Bart Butterfield stunned other West golfers by breaking the school record average of 38.5 by 36.8. Bart took first place in Regional competition and went on to compete in the State tournament.

Swimmer Sets New Freestyle Record

The butterfly, breaststroke, backstroke, and the freestyle, were methods of propelling that the swim team used to traverse the pool. From September to February, the 25-member squad practiced every day at the Deseret Gym. Nine members, two relay teams and Keith Proctor on breaststroke, participated in State meets, February 21 to 23. Danny Waters swam to make a school record of 55.0 seconds in the 100 meter freestyle. Mr. Brent Taylor coached the team in the art of slipping through an aqueous solution of chlorine. The "men from West Atlantis" swam out of '78 in freestyle.

Supervised by Marie Green, the Gymnastics Team practiced routines on the uneven paralled bars and balance beams, floor exercises, and vaulting. Their first Regional meet on January 24, held at West High, proved their gymnastic ability by placing them first. To complete the Regional competition, on February 7 the gymnasts placed third. The girls had the opportunity to choose designated or optional routines. Competitors in the Regional meets were Cottonwood, East, Granite, Highland, Olympus, and West.

West's Girls Bowling Team, Varsity and JV, took first place in Regional meets. West dominated high series and high games for the season over East, Highland, and South. Practicing Monday afternoons, the girls prepared themselves for the Singles Tournament in which all schools in the Salt Lake and Granite School Districts competed.

Mix sets, serves, spikes, bumps — and twelve girls in shorts and knee pads. Throw in a net, a ball, two referees and several irate Coachs, and the concoction you come up with is called volleyball. The Girls' Volleyball team, coached by Miss Jane Hughes and Miss Marie Greene, competed against top teams from every region to take first place in the State tournament. A huge trophy, which now stands proudly in the main trophy case, was their reward.

Careening through keyholes, flinging free shots, positioning perfect picks and spotting sly screens were just a few of the tactics used by the Girls' Basketball team this year. Coach Jane Hughes instructed the Team during seventh period and traveled with them when they competed against other 3-A teams including East, Cottonwood, Skyline and Olympus. Both the Varsity and Junior Varsity dribbled the ball to fulfill a game-filled season overflowing with success and defeats.

WORLD, NEWS

Breaking all records, endless snow and below freezing temperatures hit the East for the second year in a row. Major streets and avenues in New England, usually overcrowded with cars and people, were empty. A change for Salt Lake residents was the new governor. Scott M. Matheson. Governor Matheson replaced Calvin L. Rampton after he occupied the Capitol for twelve years. Theodore Robert Bundy, 31, a fugitive accused of one murder and suspected in 35 others, including several in Utah, made the FBI list of ten most-wanted men.

EVENTS

Dances added "a touch of class to make a good thing better." WAG sponsored the Homecoming Dance. "Memories." on October 15, when couples socialized in the brown and beige decorated cafeteria. With holiday spirit, twosomes attended the Christmas Dance on December 17 in the Capitol Rotunda. The Pep Club presented the dance and theme of "You Light Up My Life." Later the Junior class held the Junior Prom at the Hotel Utah Grand Ballroom on February 25 with the theme, "The Hands of Time." "Could It Be Magic" was the theme, the Capital Rotunda the place, and March 18 was the day for the E-Board Dance. Then on April 28 folks got on their duds and giddy — upped to the Western Round Up in the West Gym Corral. On June 7, the seniors bade farewell at the Graduation dance, closing the year of '78 Dances, which made "a good thing better."

DANCES

1. Couples wait to get their pictures taken at the Homecoming Dance. 2. Boogie down at the E-Board Dance with Cydnie and Wayne. 3. Jeff and Stephanie enjoy the Junior Prom with each other's attentive company at the Hotel Utah. 4. Mark and Connie smile with holiday spirit at the Christmas Dance at the Capitol Rotunda. 5. Swinging to western fun, Renita and Alan enjoy Western-Roundup activities. 6. Memories and dreams of the past year reflect on the serene faces of Dean and Leslie at the Graduation Dance.

HO M E C O M

The Poop Club got into hand movements at the powder puff halftime.

Farmer's and grub days, cider-guzzling, jump-roping, egg-throwing, and the VW stuff occupied Panthers with traditional school activities during Homecoming Week, October 10-14. Pep Club and La Raza Unida tied for first in the fence decorating contest, which included colored napkins, spray paint and aluminum foil. Annual rivals, senior and junior class girls, battled in the annual powder puff football game. The juniors pulled away the victors with the help of their "Alice Special," by 26-20

A new tradition started by the senior class officers was the early morning breakfast. Alumni and students gathered on the morning of October 12 for this event of pancakes, eggs, and bacon.

A white-gloved Pep Club cheered on West's football team, but Granite's hold was too tight and were the victor in over-time at West's Homecoming game by 27-20.

The Homecoming dance, "Memories," sponsored by WAG on October 15, finalized Homecoming.

SPIRIT WEEK

Spirit Week started mid-week on March 1. The first day was 50's day with the annual sock hop in the cafeteria. The winners for the best costumes were Karen Grant and Richard Cazier. Next came kiddie day and ice cream eating contests with best costumes awards going to Glen Schultz and Lori Stephenson. With Friday came the Freak-n-Grub day and a tug-a-war between the grades in the gym with Richard Cazier and Jay Lynn Roller wearing the best freak costume. Later that evening Panthers crowded into the gym to watch "Ode to Billy Joe." Monday was crazy-hat-n-sock day with the VW stuff in the parking lot. Then on March 7 there was the Spirit Week assembly at which studentbody officers announced the seniors the winning class.

1. Gritting their teeth, the senior girls show that the guys aren't the only tough ones at West. 2. On kid die day, Sue mocks, "You're just a big bully. That's all you are! Blah" 3. As she works her bubble gum, Cary tells Mr. Maher and Mrs. Baade, "I'm trying as hard as I can," 4. Baby Tom and Little Marco recall those uncomfortable years of High School. 5. Blow it, Marco! 6. Lisa, with a face covered with ice cream, raises her hand in triumph. 7. Marco reveals, "I didn't know you were supposed to put your arm in there." 8. At the VW Stuff. Panthers ask, "Have you ever wondered what a sardine feels like? 9. Coach Adams shows them how to swing at the sock hop. 10. As she stuffs marshmallows, Cary shouts, "Just one more so open wide. It has to fit; the other guys are wining."

Assemblies Entertain, Raise Hopes

Tom Hewitson drums his way into the hearts of fickle females and entertains the attentive studentbody in an assembly with the Jazz Band.

Concentration and pride combine as Julene leads the "Victory Song."

Assemblies came to you through the efforts of Mr. Blackhurst and the cheerleaders. Mr. Blackhurst arranged such assemblies as the Navy Stage Band and John Goddard. He also collaborated with the cheerleaders and E Board to bring about assemblies for Hello Day, Homecoming, Christmas, Pride Week, and Spirit Week. Meanwhile, the cheerleaders also devoted their time to Pep Assemblies, which basically fell into their hands and the Pep Club. Some of these skits were take-offs on "Batman and Robin," "Farmer Brown and Betsy" and "A Man by the Name of J.C. Penny." These skits and many like them aimed to encourage improved attendance at football and basketball games.

With arms extended, the cheerleaders arouse studentbody enthusiasm for a victory at a pep assembly.

Spirit for Panther Victories

Since when does corn have legs and arms and grow in the gym? Looks more like Pep Club to me.

What unheard secret could cause such a sly grin? Only Sandy knows . . .

A solemn circle and a song help new Pep Club salute the coming year.

"Well, your chances for State are a million to one, and the odds 'll be higher when we get done!" shouted the Pep Club. West had two teams travel to State tournaments: the Girls' Volleyball Team, coached by Miss Jane Hughes and Miss Marie Green, and the Basketball Team, staffed by Coach Clark Godfrey. The Volleyball Team went all the way to take first place and bring home a huge trophy. The Basketball Team, however, lost to Roy in the first game, and Clearfield in their second.

FIDDLER ON THE ROOF

Take it, it's very good. I think it's by a Jew."

Peasants Chava and Hodel pause in their work to gaze ahead.

Hodel explains, "In the outside world people talk at each other."

When their traditions died and the fiddler fell off the roof, the Jewish peasants of Anatevka knew it was time to take leave of their lifetime home.

West's production of "Fiddler on the Roof" played February 16-18, and was one of the biggest stage musicals ever produced by a West High drama organization. Directed by Miss Jill German, the musical stared Micheal Roberts as Tevye and Corinne Civish as Golde. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Darol Denison, and the Chorale, under the direction of Mr. James Maher, provided the musical aspect.

Since you left

I feel that the light is not extinguished, but the lamp is put out because the dawn has come.

I have never missed you more.
The valley looks barren,
the horizon grows dim,
but the mountains
still remain.

You know the sun
when you see it shines high and that one door has closed
while another open

ASTIME GOES ON

"We'll sing our praise and voices raise to West — Our Alma Mater."

As the school year came to an end, Panthers took off for the annual Lagoon Day, June 2. The Seniors then practiced for graduation, preparing to say good-bye to high school and hello to college life and job hunting. After the ceremonies on June 7 at the Tabernacle, the seniors headed to the Graduation Dance at Memorial House. Then for the last two days students made for the halls and the lawn to sign yearbooks.

After a while, the floors get hard so Panthers head for the lawn.

Is this your yearbook? Then, who did that other one belong to?

Striving for our goal of perfection, we found ourselves in trying times. We were caught in the middle of good times and bad but always trying to make the best of what we had or lacked. Through a lot of hard work and effort, we made our book.

We would especially like to thank Tom Hartvigsen, artist and photographer.

We gave a part of ourselves to you through this book. We hope that you enjoy it throughout the coming years. We gave it our best shot.
